Standish Barry (1763-1844)

Milton Lynn has owned Harford Coin Company since 1963. The store is located at 9722 Satyr Hill Road in Baltimore, Maryland 21234. This token was available at the Whitman Show, held at the Baltimore Convention Center on the last week of June 2012. He ordered 2000 tokens from the Patrick Mint in Santa Rosa California. The reverse side of the token, represents the Standish Barry token that he once owned. This spring Milt received the Best Commercial Ad Award for 2011 from WCBM 680 AM radio....Congrats!

Standish Barry was a Baltimore engraver, silver and gold smith, clock and watchmaker. In 1790, he circulated his silver token. Details of this token are listed on page 26 of the "Standard Catalog of United States Tokens 1700-1900" 4th edition by Russ Rulau.

This check was payable to Standish Barry late sheriff, for $1000 Dollars and was dated 8 January 1829. Signed by Mayor Jacob Small (1826-1831) Check and photo from the Russ Sears collection

Armed Forces Radiobiology Research Institute (AFRRI) Medal

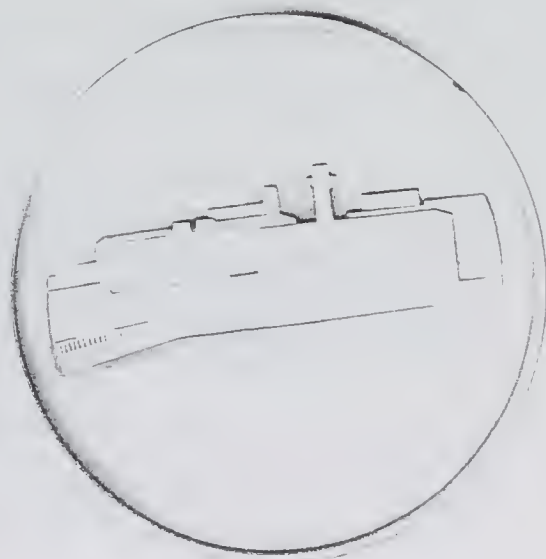

BY: Paul Belschner R-394

This is an unlisted Maryland medal from AFRRI, the location of a Nuclear Reactor located at 8901 Rockville Pike, Bethesda MD. It is a high security facility located on the campus of The National Naval Medical Center which was recently renamed Walter Reed Medical Center. I obtained this while employed by Bell Atlantic (now VERIZON). At the time I had a top security clearance which allowed me access to this facility for telecommunications installation and maintenance.

I became a good friend of the security officer who was also in charge of telecommunications. He was aware of my interest in tokens and gave me this medal. The year was 1995 and he had just received a shipment of these. They were to be presented to high ranking military and civilian personnel taking a tour of the facility. I believe that I was first person to obtain one.

The medal is 75mm and made of bronze. Rim is stamped C 1995 MEDALLIC ART CO. SIOUX FALLS, S.D. BRONZE. There is a hole at the bottom of the rim where a pin can be inserted so that the medal can be mounted to a wooden base. The reverse is an etching of the AFRRI building.

I have never seen another like this. My opinion is that the recipients had no interest in the medal and eventually disposed of it. I feel that I have a unique item in my collection. For those members wishing to learn more about AFRRI go to google.

In the first week of July, a freak storm came thru Maryland. It caused many to be without electricity and air conditioning. Temperatures reached 100 degrees. Russ and I, after dinner went to our favorite snowball stand, around the corner from where we live. Russ ordered his favorite chocolate with marshmallow and mine was spearmint with marshmallow. While waiting for our snowballs, we were each given a wooden nickel for 50 cents off the next snowball. (Well a light bulb--- LIGHT!!!!!!). Get information for an article.

The Ice Queen Snowball stand sits on the property owned by Toscana Deli, located at 9949 Harford Road in Carney, Maryland. Susan Copenhaver operates the stand for the summer months. She ordered 2000 wooden nickels from Old Time Wooden Nickel Company in San Antonio, Texas 78209 (210-822-0552 or 1-800-750-9915).

MARYLAND FERRIES

BY: W. WALLACE STONE R- 47

During colonial times on the Chesapeake Bay to travel any distance in almost any direction you would need the services of a ferryman to cross any of the numerous rivers, creek's and the Bay itself. Specific to the Maryland section of the Chesapeake Bay there were at one time, 132 known 'ferry's. These covered the Bay from the Susquehanna River to the South or the Virginia side of the Potomac river.

In 2011 the State of Maryland, has six ferry boat companies in service on a full time as well as most on a seasonal schedule from spring through fall. They are;

White's Ferry, operating from Poolesville, Montgomery County across the Potomac River, near Leesburg, Virginia.

Whitehaven Ferry, operates across the Wicomico River, at Whitehaven in Wicomico County . This is a free ferry.

Upper Ferry, crosses the Wicomico River. Wicomico County closer to Salisbury. This is also a free ferry.

Point Lookout- Smith Island Ferry. Operates from Point Lookout, St. Mary's County to Ewell, on Smith Island. A 16 mile one way trip.

Crisfield-Tangier Island Ferry. Operates from Crisfield, Somerset County to Tangier Island. An 11 mile one way trip.

Oxford-Bellevue Ferry. Operates Oxford, Talbot County to Bellevue, Talbot County, 1 mile across the Tred Avon River. The Oxford-Bellevue ferry states that they are the oldest privately owned ferry company in the United States beginning service in the year 1683. The same year, incidentally that John Chalmers coined the first silver coins in U.S. history in Annapolis, MD.

None of the ferry companies today use any form of token for passage or entry for their services. Paper tickets or receipts are used on all, with the exception of the Whitehaven and Upper Ferry.

The Oxford-Bellevue ferry operates on a seasonal basis shuttling across the Tred Avon River without a schedule. When reaching one shore, it readies itself for the return trip. Both Ferry companies that serve Smith Island and Tangier Island have advertised departure and return times published, for their seasonal trips. Both carry foot passengers, bicycles and freight, but no vehicles. Whitehaven and Upper Ferry are both cable guided for their trips across the Wicomico River. White's ferry operates year round with the exception of bad water conditions at times which may approach flood levels in the late spring, or ice during the winter. At these times service is cancelled until normal river levels return.

One step removed from ferry boat operations is that of the "Water Taxi" service. These operate under different rules and regulations, but adhere to strict Coast Guard passenger safety rules. The following is a listing of Maryland water taxi's that range in size from small 20 passenger boats to larger boats capable of carrying hundreds of people at one time.

Ed Kane's Water Taxi, Baltimore Inner Harbor.

Annapolis Harbor Water Taxi.

Maryland Water Taxi, Fells Point, Baltimore Harbor.

Washington. D.C. Water Taxi, Gaylord National

D.C Water Taxi.

Middle River Water Taxi.

St. Michaels Water Taxi, serving Miles River & St. Michaels.

An old ticket from the Claiborne-Annapolis Ferry Co. After the completion of the "BAY BRIDGE" this company went out of business. Sold their ferry boat to an Argentina Ferry Boat Firm in 1953.

Good for One Continuous Passage.
